Integrity ... It's in the Name

For over 17-years, GOH has served as a trusted partner on diverse research and analysis, information technology, management, and evaluation projects and initiatives to our government, non-profit, and private sector clients.

It's Not What You Do, but How You Do it that Really Matters

Our approach to service delivery focuses on setting up multiple feedback mechanisms and using the input from our clients and stakeholders to continuously improve our processes and approach from kick-off to close-out. The signature of our corporate culture is our rigorous commitment to integrity, quality, innovation, and collaboration.

Our value proposition to our customers and partners is the consistent delivery of high quality solutions that maximize cost effectiveness without sacrificing innovation

We are dedicated to providing strategic solutions; collectively developed from years of outstanding careers spent in the distinguished Presidential Air Force Honor Guard, federal government, and top commercial industries and research centers.

GOH possesses strong federal past performance and qualifications in grants management and monitoring, peer review, event management and planning, information technology, information and knowledge management, application and database development, strategic planning, correspondence management, and program evaluation. Employing the best consulting and business practices to meet the unique needs of each project and agency, GOH offers our federal clients a unique set of benefits and efficiencies through our:

- Cadre of seasoned, credentialed professionals with expertise across diverse domains conducting rigorous research & evaluation; developing forward-thinking IT solutions; monitoring grants management initiatives, & conducting analyses to drive process improvement.
- Reliance on proven processes to manage and streamline high-visibility, mission critical projects such as congressional & strategic reporting; content & records management systems, peer reviews, & information collection and evaluation activities.

By choosing GOH, our customers not only receive a company with strong experience and a proven management approach to execute contract and task order requirements; they select a company with the corporate capabilities, personnel, and credentials to meet more expansive future requirements.

A TRACK RECORD OF SUCCESS

As a result of GOH utilization of proven processes and dedication to stringent quality assurance, GOH received a score of 100% from surveyed customers on quality and timeliness of deliverables. Additionally, no client has ever incurred a cost over run since our company's inception in 1997.
